

CoolTouch™ Laser

Nothing is quite as beautiful as soft, healthy-looking skin.

However, as we age, the effects of the sun, wind, time and hormones begin to take their toll. Fine lines begin to form around the lips and eyes. As the collagen that supports the skin wears out, deeper lines and grooves form in our brow, next to the nose and down to the corners of our mouths. Surface irregularities such as pigment discolorations and acne scarring may also occur.

Advances in treatment options have continued to improve, from microdermabrasion and chemical peels to CO2 and ERBIUM laser skin resurfacing. With microdermabrasion, layers of skin are actually sanded away, and in chemical peels, layers of skin are burned away with an acid solution. CO2 and ERBIUM laser skin resurfacing have given the surgeon more control and made skin resurfacing safer and more predictable. However, these lasers still exfoliate the protective outer layer of skin, which requires bandages and a lengthy recovery period.

CoolTouch™ Facial Rejuvenation

CoolTouch™ facial rejuvenation was designed to combat the effects of aging in a softer, gentler way. It uses a revolutionary process that delivers the laser energy through your skin's surface, to gently stimulate the production of collagen while protecting the outer layer of your skin. The new collagen softens the appearance of aging skin. These precise treatments are made possible by an advanced, computer controlled CoolTouch™ hand piece which protects your outer skin and sensitive nerve endings with a unique cooling spray delivered just before the laser energy.

What will my recovery be like?

CoolTouch™ facial rejuvenation is so gentle that there is no interruption to your normal life. During your series of in-office treatments, you will see an ongoing improvement in how your skin looks and feels. No tissue is removed. There is no oozing or crusting as associated with other laser treatments or chemical peels. Bandages are not required.

You can watch as your skin gradually rebuilds from the inside and restores a more youthful appearance to your face. Over a few months, our CoolTouch™ facial rejuvenation treatments can restore what nature has diminished.

Are CoolTouch™ facial rejuvenation treatments for you?

Your skin care consultant will review your medical history, age, skin type and pigmentation, consider your desired results, and determine the best course of treatment for you. Results will vary from patient to patient depending on age, skin type, condition and the number of treatments. See Photo's below.
